

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

Threat Assessment
& Management Team

WORKING TO PROMOTE A SAFE COMMUNITY

About Us

The Threat Assessment and Management Team (TAMT) is a multidisciplinary group of faculty and staff that reviews reports about concerning behaviors; considers various approaches to managing concerning behavior; and provides guidance to students, faculty, and staff regarding how to address and prevent violent and disruptive behavior.

THREAT ASSESSMENT IS ANALYSIS AND PROACTIVE RESPONSE. IT IS NOT PUNISHMENT OR DISCIPLINE.

Everyone at the University of Arizona has a role to play in preventing campus violence. TAMT depends on the campus community for early reporting of any concerning behavior.

When (and what) should you report to TAMT?

The sooner, the better! Examples of concerning behaviors include:

- direct or implied threats to harm others or property
- stalking or intrusive behaviors
- harassing electronic communications
- concerning social media posts
- doing or saying things that generally make others feel scared or uncomfortable

How should you report a concern to TAMT?

Visit tamt.arizona.edu to report a concern using an online form.

- If the issue involves University of Arizona affiliates, TAMT can be involved.
- Employees: If you report something to TAMT, we recommend you also inform your supervisor and HR.

To report a concern and to learn about TAMT:
tamt.arizona.edu

Call or text 911 for any emergency requiring police, fire, or medical assistance. If non-emergency, call 520-621-8273 (621-UAPD).